DETAILED ACTIONClaim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-34 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Bompard et al (5484642) in view of Vane (5445693).

As seen for example in figure 3, the disclosure of Bompard et al teaches the fabric as claimed including a plurality of substantially parallel, coaxially aligned fiber element groups (33c, 31c), each of said groups having one or more fiber elements wherein a portion of said groups contain two or more fiber elements, and wherein the spacing between fiber elements in a element group is less than the spacing between adjacent element groups. Also note that element groups have axes which are in coplanar relationship as shown in figure 4. However, the fibers of Bompard are set forth as yarns rather than tows. Vane teaches a reinforcing fabric which is formed from tows, yarns or threads. It would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to one of ordinary skill in the art to provide the threads of Bompard et al as tows as shown by Vane in order to provide bundles of parallel monofilaments which eliminates the yam forming step, i.e. spinning. Concerning the specific number of the tows, it would have been obvious the time the invention was made to choose a specific number of tows, i.e. odd or even, since such a modification would have involved a mere change in the number of a component and in order to provide the number which brings about the optimal strength, flexibility, hand, etc.. Concerning the spacing between the tows, it would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to provide the tows with a specific spacing in order to find the spacing that brings about the optimal fabric strength.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 1/2/08 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. The tow groups have axes which are in coplanar relationship to the extent claimed as set forth above in the rejection.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
